Eagles return to activities . . . . . no where else but WHS

Students and faculty members returned to Wall High School after summer vacation on Tuesday, September 7. Signs that it was time to leave summer jobs included the beginning of football practice. No where else but WHS had Myron Heathershaw for quarterback. Girls basketball practice also began bringing together a team that would later win the District Tournament with the leadership of Mary Besson. Most students at WHS worked at jobs in tourist related businesses. No where else but Wall does the teenage population more than double because of the summer help. Most of them work at the famous Wall Drug Store.

Engebretsen has first Homecoming

Anita Engebretsen, an exchange student from Oslo, Norway, celebrated her first Homecoming Week with the Eagles the week of September 15 - 19.

"It was a good experience and it was a lot of fun," Engebretsen said.

Anita helped the sophomores paint their spirit window, "Tigers Come to Town, Eagles Bust 'em Down!" which took second place in the competition.

Activities of the week included pep assemblies, dress up days, painting spirit windows, class skits and Coronation, a bonfire, a flea market, and the traditional game. Wall defeated White River 8 - 6 (See complete story in the sports section.)

The freshmen bonfire lit up the night on Thursday after the Coronation program. Cheerleaders led the crowd which gathered for nearly an hour of spirit yells. Photo by Nancy Iversen

Anita Engebretsen arrived in Wall on August 18 after a 27-hour trip which took her through Denmark, Chicago, Minneapolis and finally Rapid City. She was picked up there by her American family.

Staying with the Chuck and Lucille Holsethers, Anita said it was easy to understand what they were saying, but it was difficult to talk in the beginning. Her American sister, Angie Holsether, introduced her to Wall.

"The school is different," Anita said. "In America you have sports and lockers." Anita has finished nine years of school in Norway and could be finished if she wanted to be. "But it's not useful," she said. After returning, Anita intends to go back to gymnasium. "I want to be a photographer," she said.

Lady Eagles win Districts

The Lady Eagles finished their season by winning the District Championship for the first time in ten years. Coached by Bob Ivers and led by senior, Mary Besson, the girls captured the Championship at New Underwood on November 25 in a game against Kadoka. Wall won 49 - 35.

"Mary Besson played one of her better games of the season both offensively and defensively," said Coach Ivers. Mary scored ten field goals and had a total of 25 points. She had 21 rebounds.

Kadoka put the press on the Eagles, but the girls broke it both in passing and in Cassie Eddings' ball handling Ivers said.

Seniors have visiter

Jesper Akesson visited Wall during his stay in the United States as an exchange student from Sweden. After spending a month in Wessington, Jesper came to Wall staying with the Lars Wolberg family and Phil and Lori Morrison-Sloat.

His first time in this country, Jesper described Americans as "very nationalistic". He said the youth become grown up faster here noting that drivers licenses are given to some as young as 14 years old. He felt the sports in school were very competitive and they were taken too seriously for young players.

However, Jesper said many things here were a lot like Sweden.
"You have to get out of your own country to see that people are the same all over the world," he said.

While at Wall, Jesper participated in the one-act play, choir, and basketball. He left at the end of the semester to go to Sturgis for the rest of the year.

Juniors raise money for prom

Juniors took on several projects to raise money for the junior/senior prom.

During Homecoming they sponsored a cake walk and a jail.

They created original designs for t-shirts, sweatshirts and football jerseys which they sold to brighten school spirit as well as raise money.

Class members worked the concession stand at the boys basketball games and wrestling meets.

In October they held a dance.

Sophomores excel as individuals

Individuals who achieved recognition for their different talents include Todd Williamson, Lisa Fauske, Connie Wolf and Anita Babcock.

Todd Williamson was elected to the West River All Conference Basketball Team for the second time this year.

Lisa Fauske was selected to attend the Hugh O'Brian Leadership Seminar. "When I go to Sioux Falls, I hope to bring back good leadership qualities," Lisa said. She will attend the seminar in April.

Anita Babcock wasn't absent a single day the first semester. "My achievements may not be great, but I'm proud of myself for success of one of my goals," Anita said.

Connie Wolf, who was named December's Student of the Month, was the first sophomore to receive this honor. Connie also won a 4-H Leadership Seminar trip to Denver and the local Beef Cook Off in Rapid City.

Eagles celebrate early Homecoming

Wall School celebrated Homecoming the week of September 15-19 with a varity of activities which led up to a football game with White River on Friday evening.

Different groups held pep assemblies each morning. The freshmen, wearing paper hats which said I love seniors, sang chants to honor them. There were also various skits, competitions, music and cheers. Mike Hall and Mary Besson won the Mr. and Mrs. Sweet Thing contest.

Eagles are victorious

Homecoming Week was an exciting event with the students and teachers dressing up. Monday was Occupation Day, Tuesday was Hawaiian Day, Wednesday, Opposite Sex Day, Thursday, Mafia Day, and Friday was the traditional Blue and Gold Day.

Thursday night was Coronation. The high school classes painted spirit windows on some of the downtown businesses, and the seniors were announced as the winners. Class skits were also presented and judged with the FHA winning best skit. The Homecoming King and Queen, Myron Heathershaw and Katrina Kenoyer were crowned. After Coronation was the snake dance and bonfire.

Then Friday everyone got out of school at noon and the Student Council had games to play. After the games, the students set up their booths for the flea market which was held in the gym.

Then came the big game Friday night. Wall won with Will Huether scoring the touchdown, but the extra point failed. Later Joel Deering scored a safety, clinching the 8-6 victory.

Coach Dale Walz said the Eagles played up to their potential. "Considering it was muddy due to rain, it was not a very offensive game," he said. Myron Heathershaw, quarterback, said the passing game worked better than the running game because the ball was so slick.

The KKLS sock hop ended the week's festivities.

Eagles make playoffs.

Football started with a close game against Hill City. The Eagles played to a 3-5 record and made it to the playoffs. Wall lost to Jones County during the season then ended up playing them in another playoff game.

Coach Dale Walz thought the team could have won more games, but the starting quarterback, Myron Heathershaw, was out with injuries for a number of the games.

Walz also said he trained harder and required more conditioning to get the team into shape this year. This is the first year Wall has made it to the playoffs.

The Eagles first win occurred on Homecoming. The Eagles clinched a victory, with the score of 8-6. The Eagles second win was at Kadoka. The Eagles ran a variety of rushing and passing plays, with Daryl Dartt leading the rushing with 150 yards. The last win was against New Underwood when the Eagles toppled the Tigers by over 25 points.

The team had an experianced offensive line and usually gave the quarterback plenty of time for the pass. Daryl Dartt and Will Huether said they had big enough holes to make the big plays.

This year the Eagles also tried kicking extra points. Todd Williamson was the field-goal kicker and on good days could kick a fifty-yard goal. Brian Eisenbraun lead the tackles, while Will Huether lead the rushing. Daryl Dartt scored the most touchdowns with Todd Williamson leading the receptions with 30 for 484 yards and a 16 yard pass average. Rob Lytle ran second with receptions. The quarterback, Myron Heathershaw, threw for 1055 yards with 133 attempts and 73 completions.

Girls #1 at Districts

The A-team started off their season with a win against Brainerd and completed it with a 16-7 record. Everyone agrees the highlight of the season was winning districts. Mary said that they knew they were good enough to win and just went in there with a positive attitude. Cassie mentioned that they prayed in the locker room right before the championship game at districts and were really pumped up. " The team had drive and never fell out of a game no matter how far they were behind", said Coach Ivers. They played a man-to-man defense and on offense played more as a balanced scoring team. Mary Besson received All-Conference and Jody Botz was the most improved player. Coach Ivers said, "A lot of things were accomplished ." The B teams record for the year was 11-7.

Five run cross country

Five high school girls, Tanya Keyser, Jody Botz, Lisa Fauske, Denise Johnson, and Kim Pavao, ran on the cross country team.

Jody, a junior, is a very active runner and has been in cross country for 3 years. She is looking forward to a victorious last year in high school.

Lisa Fauske has been in cross country since 7th grade. She said she will continue to be in for her last two years of high school if it is continued to be offered.

Denise Johnson, a two year participant, said training was all right. They ran two miles every night and lifted weights every other night.

Kim Pavao did well in her first year of cross country. Kim's best time was 15.35 at the Philip Invitational on October 18th.

The team took first place honors at the Three Rivers Conference, Rattle Snake Run, Philip Invitational, and Region VB.

The team went to Huron for the state meet where they placed 7th. "Although the temperature was in the 30's, and the track was overcrowded, the girls ran a good race, said Coach Merlin Doyle.

Gymnasts break record

Wall gymnasts broke their old record with a score of 115.2 at the Sturgis quadrangular February 9th.

The team was edged out of first place at regionals with a score of 110.5 to Hot Springs score of 111.7. The top two teams from each region advance to state. Individuals making it to state wereWendy Cordes who won first in the all-around competition, Cassie Eddings all-around, Lorie Ruland vault, bars, and floor, Jody Botz bars and beam, Tracie Williamson, beam. The team placed 5th in state beating Hot Springs, Sisseton, and Milbank. Cassie Eddings placed 3rd on the vault in the individual competition with a score of 8.26. Wendy Cordes was selected to the all-tournament team.

This year there were younger students involved in the program. "Increased interest of the 7th and 8th graders, seemed to help the older, more experienced gymnasts to work harder and to set examples," said Ms. Anderson.

The gymnasts saw many improvemants and accomplishments throughout the season. Wendy Cordes credited these improvments to more organized practice sessions. She said, "We were in better shape, and we kept a good attitude throughout the season."

Wall developes fast break

Dave Strain helped the Eagles with their fast break. The Eagles scored 10 to 12 points a game from using it. Coach Ivers said the fast break worked best against New Underwood at districts. "That's how we got back in the game," Ivers said. "Brainerd was another team it worked well against."

Todd Williamson, leading scorer with 498 and leading rebounder with 11 a game, won most valuable player and was named All Conference. Scott Nelson received most improved and Rob Feller hustler.

Faculty celebrates National Education Week

Faculty members of the Wall Schools celebrated National Education Week the second week in November. Each teacher received a plant from the Board of Education. They also received badges to wear during the week as well as book marks and a list of ideas to use with their students during the week.

Ms. Calene Babcock was named Outstanding Young Educator of the Year by the Wall Jaycees. She teaches special education and works with the gifted program in both the elementary and high schools. Babcock helps students who are having difficulty by teaching study skills. She coached a team for Future Problem Solving which competed at the state level.

The Wall Education Association gained new members with 31 of the 33 teachers on the staff joining. The Association began negotiations with the Board of Education in the fall. In December an impasse was declared. This was part of a state wide effort to raise teachers salaries. Teachers and school board members from districts across the state that were at impasse went to Pierre in February to ask the State Legislature for financial assistance. The assistance that was received averaged about $56 per teacher. Serving as officers of the association were Calene Babcock, president, Cheryl Walker, president-elect, and Pam Anderson, secretary/treasurer. Walker became president for the 1987-88 year and members elected Eric Uecker, president-elect, and Meri Meredith, secretary/treasurer.

Students gain honors for achievements

Students were honored throughout the year for their outstanding achievements. Each month nominations for Student of the Month were submitted by anyone who knew of someone deserving of recognition. Nominations could be made by students, faculty, administration or parents and other members of the community. When the nominations were made, a list of nominees with a description of their achievements were circulated among teachers and members of Student Council who selected the winner.

Students were also honored on Awards Night when they were presented with pins, certificates and letters. The winners of scholarships and other awards including the Presidential Academic Fitness Awards, the Booster Club Honor Awards, and the Merit and Honor Roll Awards were also announced that night. Several students were recognized for the participation in the Chadron Scholastic Contest.

Wolf wins Beef Cook Off

Connie Wolf, who has competed in the Youth Day Ground Beef Cook Off at the Black Hills Stock Show for six years, won the senior division. Her winning recipe for Burger Crust Pie beat four other entries. The dish, costing just 75 cents per serving is good for a quick family meal said one of the judges.

"I was really surprised," Connie said. "I guess I've learned a lot from all the other competitions I have been in."

Some classes take teamwork

Students in physical education classes learned about such sports as volleyball, badmitten, floor hockey, bowling and archery. Two classes are offered — life time sports and freshman physical education. The classes were taught by Mr. Dale Walz.

Ms. Anderson taught the freshman health class. The class learned about the effects of alcohol and drugs, talked about suicide and discussed self esteem. Students found these subjects interesting because they deal directly with them.

Math department offers variety

The math department will be offering the same classes as Rapid City schools next year. These classes include pre-calculus and calculus Mr. Merlin Doyle, high school principal, said. He said that only classes with some interest from students will be taught.

Scot Nelson was the only person and the first junior to take senior math. Scot came in outside of regular class time for special instruction from Mr. Eric Uecker for twenty to thirty minutes a day. Scot said it was to his advantage to be the only student in the class because Mr. Uecker had more time to explain the more difficult material to him.

Mr. Jeff Barnes said freshman students coming into high school have a good knowledge of algebra. Mrs. Lola Kleinschmit started teaching pre-algebra in the middle of the last quarter of the eighth grade.

Writing students create books

Students in Ms. Connie Simon's creative writing class wrote a book after interviewing a second grader who was put in the story. The students designed the book, wrote it, and illustrated it. After it was graded, it was given to the second grader to keep.

Advanced English students interviewed people at Prairie Village and then wrote a biography. The honors class mainly shows how literature frflects the society for which it was written. Students also are assigned to write a term paper that was done for the first time on the word processor.

Freshmen write letters to African penpals

Freshmen in the geography class wrote letters to Dawn Cole's class in Lesotho, Africa. In this exchange program, each student received a letter from a boy and a girl. They discussed the members of their families and also the sports they participated in. The Africans are just learning to speak and write in English.

Government class members visited the State Capitol in Pierre on February 11. Arriving at the capitol at 8:30, the class had an hour to spare before going to a committee meeting. "Most of the students sat in on a bill about the drinking age, which was most educational," said Lorie Ruland. They took a break for dinner at Pizza Hut and then went to admire the grounds, the ducks in Capitol Lake and the mysterious Eternal Flame.

An economics class was added to the curriculum. "The class creates an atmosphere which allows students to adapt to the college experience more readily," said Mr. Guy Smith, instructor. "Social sciences attempt to explain man's relationship to his constant changes — some good, some not. As knowledge increases at a much faster rate, the liberal arts became more critical in maintaining some sense of direction," said Smith.

Computer programming, literacy are popular

Thirty-seven students took the offered computer classes. The different classes offered were computer literacy, basic programming and Pascal.

In basic programming the studnts worked on variables, books and branching. Word processing, data bases, and spread sheets were studied in graphics. Those in general computers worked on issues.

Eighty-five per cent of the jobs today use computers. One of the most helpful things that computers are involved with is word processing. They are helpful in many different ways, but as Mr. Eric Uecker said, word processing is the best thing that happened to computers. The memory size of the school's computers was doubled and they no longer need any updating Uecker said.

La cuisine francaise vient a Wall

French cooking comes to Wall. Members of the French I class served hors d'oeuvres, stuffed mushrooms, salmon canapes, salad with French dressing, imported cheeses from France, strawberry crepes, wine (non-alcoholic), and mineral water. Ms. Nancy Iversen made French bread. Eating is not all the class did. They also used a new learning technique. Super learning is a process where you are totally relaxed to music while the teacher reads some words or phrases in rhythm. After using the process, students had success on the test. TPR (total physical response) a method where students do what they hear. "Learning was interesting and fun — not the same old learning process," said Holli Williams. "The year was exceptionally delicious."

Two hundred and fifty students sang in the combined choir. They sang an American folk collage including "Not So Boring Minuet" and "Blessing". The swing choir danced to "Up Where We Belong" and "We're On Top". The choir was directed by Dr. Robyn Swanson from Black Hills State College.

Activities

Student Council sponsors dances

The Student Council put on many dances and a barbecue at the end of the year. They also planned the events for Homecoming. Some of the members particiapted in the student exchange day. Students from Wall and Kadoka changed places. The Council also attended a seminar in Rapid City on how to become a better council person. The president was Ronda Heathershaw, vice-president, Heather Schone, and secretary/treasurer, Rob Feller.

There was interest this year in obtaining a student room. Rob Feller said, "We haven't found the right location, but hope to by next year."

Katrina Kenoyer and Rob Babcock attended the Presidential Classroom in Washington, D. C. They stayed at Omni Shore Motel. They visited the Smithsonian Institute. "It was the best museum you could imagine," Katrina said. All countries of the world have students at the Presidential Classroom. Katrina had a roommate from Puerto Rico. "We visited all the great monuments and met a lot of new people," Katrina said.

Debate team does best in Rapid City

The debate team had its best debate this season at the Bay Conference Tournament held in Rapid City in January. Chad Anderson and Laurel Graham were one team and Christy Schroeder and Dean Johannesen were another. Chad and Laurel lost two and won two beating Stevens and Spearfish. Christy and Dean lost two and won one beating Rapid City Stevens.

This team, having eight members, is the largest ever coached by Eric Uecker. "I admire the freshmen for sticking with it because they had to hit teams that were older and had more experience than they did," said Uecker.

Rob Babcock, a senior who debated with Mike Hall, said, "Our records weren't too good this year, but we have high hopes for the freshman team."

Play cast borrows costumes

The spring play cast borrowed costumes from the Wall Street Players. "Places Please" was a modern play directed by Meri Meredith. "The experience makes you more aware of things," Meredith said of her major in drama. The cast adapted the play in parts and ad libbed in some parts. "I thought they had fun putting the play on, except that the practices were long and hard," said Meredith. There were two performances.

FFA does community improvement projects

The Wall Future Farmers of America continued to improve the community park. FFA members repainted the tennis court backstop, set new park boundary posts, helped plant 33 new trees and put in three sets of horseshoe pits. A new 20 x 30 picnic shelter was built. Skills learned in the FFA project include building layout, uses of concrete, building structures and rafter construction. Other skills acquired through the building of the park are proper planting, kinds and uses of paint, and developing a cost analysis budget.

FFA activities throughout the year included a hayride and picnic, contests and field trips. Trip experiences included a sheep ranch tour at R & D Enterprises. The chapter also learned meat cutting at the G & W Market and Sturgis Meat and Cheese Plant. Marvin Coleman sheared and butchered a lamb for the sophomores.

Chapter officers are Myron Heathershaw, president, Jim Cudmore, vice-president, Todd Sieler, secretary, Will Huether, sentinal, Rob Lytle, reporter and Bart Cheney, treasurer.

Problems hamper yearbook staff

One of the difficulties facing the yearbook staff was that Ms. Nancy Iversen, adviser, was in the hospital for surgery and missed nearly two months of school from mid-February to mid-April. Warren Werner was editor at the beginning of the year, but quit in January.

Becky Werner, a freshman, continued to work on the book almost alone. She figured out how to use the new computer program. Later, Becky typed copy that was written by the journalism class onto the disks. The class also helped by labeling pictures and writing captions for them.

Acknowledgements

The 1987 Eagle could not have been prepared without the cooperation of many people. There were some difficulties due to a new computer program which came late, the editor quit mid-year, and the adviser was out of school for two months because of surgery. Still, the book was finished. Becky Werner, a freshman continued to work with the book completing the ad sales campaign, learning the word processing program, taking pictures, and generally organizing things. She continued to work with Ms. Nancy Iversen after school was out until the book was finished in July. The students of the journalism class wrote most of the copy for the book and helped with labeling pictures. Mary Jane Doyle, high school secretary, helped keep the staff up on changes taking place within the school. She also answered a great variety of questions. Elsie Mortensen kept records of the money collected from sales and advertising. The faculty and students cooperated by answering questionnaires and being interviewed. All this help is gratefully acknowledged.

Thank You!

Juniors give 'best' prom ever

"It was the best prom at Wall High School," Lorie Ruland said adding that it was worth the money spent.

In order to raise money for the most expensive prom given at Wall, the juniors sold t-shirts, put on dances, sold magazines in previous years and ran the concession stands during basketball and wrestling.

The decorations involved building a ceiling, making wall, setting up castle gates and stringers as well as putting up tables and chairs. Couples lined up and had a grand march for the first time in years. There was also a king, Will Huether, and a queen, Tanya Keyser, elected. The Cactus Cafe catered a prime rib dinner. Mayor Dave Hahn spoke.

To the Seniors

Another year goes passing by Another Prom is here
To some this brings a joyous smile
To others, brings a tear.
For four years you have tread a path
From dawn to setting sun
But now the path gets steeper
And the climb is just begun.
We're very glad to know you
We'll miss you when you've gone
And to the class of '87
We dedicate our Prom

WHS celebrates 63rd commencement

The 63rd graduation at Wall High School was held May 17 in the gymnasium. The band played the processional and Rev. John Werner gave the invocation. Addresses were given by Myron Heathershaw, class president, and Robert Babcock. The senior class girls sang "Greatest Love of All". Mr. Bill Hustead was the guest speaker. He told the seniors "don't be afraid to set high goals." He also urged the seniors to stay in South Dakota.

No where else but WHS . . .

No where else but in Wall High School can everyone be "special" in their own ways — such as appearance, attitude and abilities. Here each student has unique traits. From Jim Coats famous expressions like excuuuuuuse me and goooooood news to Warren Werner's backpack and walking stick, WHS is a place for individuals. There is no other place like it.

Student Council has barbeque, dance

The Student Council put on a dance and barbeque for the students of Wall High School on Friday, May 8 in the City Park. This is the first time the Student Council has sponsored an end of the year event. It featured music by The Jaycees, food by the Student Council (chips and lemon-aid), and volleyball for anyone who wanted to play.

The last week of school didn't seem like summer as it rained all week. At times it seemed like it would last forever.
